Custom Long Kept Up.
Up to a few years ago a horse, saddled and bridled, stood in the stable of the Vivians (Vivian, as it was spelled in the old days) of Trelawney (Cornwall, Eng.) ready for use night and day. For 900 years horses had succeeded each other in commemoration of the escape on horseback of a Vivian who lived in the days of the memorable flood which submerged the land, some say in 1014 and others in 1066.

Only One Test of Worth.
Not what we have, or know, or even what we do, but what we are—that determines our worth. Great universities know this. See their mottoes. One motto is "Quaecumque sunt vera." (Whatever things are true.) Another motto is "The truth shall make you free." Another, "Culture must flourish under the law of God." Another, "Culture without character is a vain thing."—Exchange.

How Rainfall is Recorded.
The government gauge for recording rainfall consists of a cylinder two feet high, eight inches in diameter, upon which a funnel of the same diameter fits. Within that is a brass cylinder of the same height, the diameter a little over two and one-half inches. In it is a measuring tube, the area of which compared with the area of the funnel is as ten to one, so that when a one-hundredth of an inch falls in the funnel it becomes one-tenth of an inch in the measuring tube.

The Savior in Profane History.
Among the historical references to Jesus Christ which are undisputed is that made by Tacitus, the Roman historian, who on speaking of the Christians said, "The originator of that name had been executed in the reign of Tiberius by order of the administrator, Pontius Pilate." This may be found in the Annals of Tacitus. Reference to Christ is also made in the "Antiquities of Josephus," a Jewish historian, who was contemporary with Christ, but this passage is declared by some to be a forgery.

Calling in Cairo.
Englishmen who do not know Cairo sometimes take houses in remote and undesirable parts of the city. In "Egypt as We Knew It," Mrs. E. L. Butcher amusingly describes how hard it is to find a person who has thus gone astray. Her husband, she says, wrote to a doctor for the address of some friends whom she knew he had attended. Here is the doctor's answer: "The M—'s live in a house without a number in a street without a name next door to an Armenian butcher who, I think, has no sign, west of Abidin palace. The staircase has eighty-seven steps."

It Will Grow.
Democracy can never be extended by force, as you would find a net over a flock of birds; but give it a chance and it will grow; as a tree grows, by sending down its roots into the heart of humanity and lifting its top toward the light and spreading its arms wider and wider until all the persecuted flocks of heaven find refuge beneath its protecting shade.—Henry Van Dyke.

Beards in History.
Pliny, we are informed, "observes that Scipio Africanus was the man who introduced the fashion of the daily shave, and the Romans wore beards until Caesar enjoined them all to shave, but he was obliged to keep on foot a number of officers to cut off, by violence, the beards of such as would not otherwise part with them."

Preserving Milk.
Is milk condensed? Milk is condensed by the evaporation of the water it contains, after it has been sterilized. Sugar is added to some brands, and is not added to others, and the unsweetened is known as "evaporated" milk to distinguish it from the sweetened. Copper tanks holding 1,000 gallons or more are used in the sterilization of the milk, and the water is evaporated in huge vacuum pans.

Smoke as a Lightning Rod.
It would seem that a building 3,000 feet above the sea level should be protected by lightning rods, but the astronomical observatory at Mount Etna has not, and does not, need such protection. The observatory is near the summit of the volcano, and the stream of vapor constantly rising from the crater acts as a natural conductor, draining the electricity out of the clouds, so that lightning is seldom seen there.

For Antiquarians to Solve.
In discussing the origin of names from occupations an interesting point crops up. A man might have been a cooper and his son a weaver, why was the family known as coopers and not weavers? Just at what point did the appellation crystallize into a name? Careful study has failed to clear up this point.

Coment Must Be Heeded.
It is often convenient to have a coment that will resist considerable temperatures. Here is the recipe for a good heat-withstanding coment: Take fifty parts of sulphur, one part of resin and one part of tallow. Take these ingredients together and add one powdered glass to form a paste. This coment must be heated before being used.

Try This.
To prevent the glass coming off of your white paint wash it with milk and a little soap. That will be much cheaper than repainting and is effective.

FOR SPORT WEAR

Sweaters in Delightful Weaves and Charming Colors.

Combination of Tints That Afford
Prettiest Effect Proves to Be Chief Problem.

Everywhere one goes shopping just now there are to be seen the most delightful sweaters in all weaves and colors, and also the most attractive sport skirts in all the wanted shades of the new silks. But sometimes it is a problem to know just what colors to combine to obtain the prettiest effect.

A beautiful sweater, tuxedo model, of peach silk in a fancy weave, was worn with a canteen crepe skirt of French blue, and the combination was very dainty. A rather large drooping hat of the blue crepe was faced with peach silk, and worn with this costume.

Of course, white is the most practical for a sport skirt, as it goes well with any blouse or sweater you may care to wear. If you have a white skirt from last summer, and it is a bit yellow from laundering, why not tint it one of the new shades? There are any number of good coloring powders on the market that require no boiling and but a few minutes' time.

You might tint your last year's skirt a lovely maize shade and wear it with a black slip-on sweater. If you run yellow ribbon through your black sweater the result will be very striking.

An unusual outfit was a coat-sweater of chocolate-colored wool with Blocks of Cubist Coloring.

a long-tasseled girdle, worn with a skirt of light rose baronet satin. A rose silk soft sport hat, embroidered in a few tan wool motifs, completed the charming effect.

MOUNTINGS ON HANDBAGS

Much Elaboration Given to the Get-up of Both Afternoon and Evening Purses.

The envelope handbag is not the only shape in frequent use, nor is red leather the only material. There is great variety in the shape, the size and the colorings of the new French purses. There are large caselike purses of black suede carrying handsome monograms and tiny evening bags of elongated shape made of bright colored failles, moires and oddly striped silks mounted on small, square tops. Much elaboration is noted in the mountings of afternoon and evening purses, many being studded with costly jewels.

For those who hold to the fashion for black or black and white, eschewing all bright colors for the time being, there are beautiful little pocket-books of black silk with pearl-studded mountings or with the wearer's monogram outlined in pearls.

A great vogue is evinced for very decorative mountings and frames for handbags. So many women are doing tapestry and bead embroidery that it makes these novelty frames in great demand, as once the work is finished the bag can be sewn to one of these mountings with gratifying results. Owing to the popularity of Egyptian patterns in tapestry work many of the new frames also are in Egyptian designs.

KEEP WORK BASKET CLOSED

Silk or Thread Becomes Shabby and Faded if Continuously Exposed to the Light.

Silk or thread becomes shabby and faded if kept in the light or in an open work basket. To overcome this and to have them convenient for use take a good sized square pasteboard box and fit a board inside. Then put nails in the board at various intervals in rows far enough apart to allow space for the regular size spool silk or thread to stand easily side by side. When not in use slip the spool over the nail, after making sure that the end of the thread is fastened so it cannot unravel. Cover it and keep it in a convenient place in the sewing room. The advantage is that at a glance you know which silk you need without disturbing the others, and they are always fresh, clean and right there.

Evening Gowns.
The dyed lace evening gown is often accompanied by a square cape of the same lace lined with taffeta.

Books That Have Life.

After all, is it not better that a hundred unnecessary books should be published than that one good and useful book should be lost? (Nature's law of parsimony is arrived at by a process of expense.) The needless volumes, like the infertile seeds, soon sink out of sight; and the books that have life in them are taken care of by the readers who are waiting somewhere to receive and cherish them.—Henry Van Dyke.

The Difficulty.

A Kansas City divine says the secret of success is to be born without money, friends or influence. This may be true, but how are we going to fix it to be born that way and would we if we could?
